

9 JURORS SEATED IN TRIAL HERE

Five and Three Wopprise Jury Box
Mission Today

DEFENDANT WEEPS

All Jurors Are Questioned Closely In Case.

BULLETIN
Herbert E. Lewis, New Holland grocer, was seated as the ninth temporary juror in the Loudermilk trial this afternoon.

A jury was expected to be sworn before adjournment of court today in the trial of Henry Loudermilk, 47, white, charged with instigating the plot that led to the robbery and murder of John Kidney. Loud-ermilk is the second person to be tried Walker Brown, colored, being found guilty of a charge which will mean death in the electric chair.

When court began this afternoon there were eight persons, five men and three women in the jury box.

WEEPS IN COURT
Loudermilk wept for a short time
Monday morning after court began.

His attorneys are Tom A. Re-nick and Paul E. Adkins, while Emmitt L. Crist and C. A. Leist represent the state.

The prospective jurors are:
John N. Hedges, farmer, Walnut-twp.

Mrs. Ida Griffith, housewife,
New Holland.

Charles Weidinger, farmer, Muhlenberg-twp.

E. C. Shupe, farmer, Salt Creek-
twp.

Ralph Stevenson, farmer, Harrison-twp.

Otis Leist, farmer, Pickaway-
twp.

Miss Lotta Downs, Darbyville;
Miss Mary Porter, Salt Creek-twp.

All of the prospective jurors were questioned extensively as to whether or not they had closely followed reports concerning the crime published in the newspapers, and if they had formed opinions which would require evidence to alter. They were also asked, if they knew the outcome of the Walker Brown trial, which ended Friday, and if that would prejudice them in their consideration of this case.

QUESTIONED BY JUDGE
The prospective jurors were first questioned by Judge Adkins and then by counsel for state and defense.

Mr. Hedges said he had an opinion in the case based on what he read in newspapers and that he had heard remarks made about the case by other persons. He added he could lay his opinion aside and he could consider the case on an even basis for both sides. Defense counsel entered several challenges for cause against Mr. Hedges, but he was seated by the judge.

Mrs. Griffith said her opinion was that a murder had been com-

"Boy" Gangster Shot To Death

Vincent Coll, Known As Babyfaced Harlem Slayer Trapped by Mob

CAUGHT IN BOOTH

Death Similar To That Of Legs Diamond

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 — Vincent Coll, New York's boy gangster chief, was shot and killed today.

Trapped within the narrow walls of a telephone booth, the youth, who at 23 had the reputation of the most ruthless of New York gang leaders, was riddled with bullets poured from a sub-machine gun in the hands of a rival gunman.

"Babyface" Coll, as police, much to his disgust, called him because of a dimple in his chin, paid the full price of a reckless gesture with his life. Despite the feud with Arthur (Dutch) Schultz, Flegenheimer's mobster, he went out unarmed and without a bodyguard.

TRAPPED IN BOOTH
Coll had just entered the telephone booth in a West Twenty Third Street drug store, when three men, alighting from an automobile, came in. Two stood guard at the door. The third advanced to the telephone.

"Be quiet and keep cool" he admonished two clerks and Dr. Leo J.
Latz, Chicago, who sat at the soda fountain.

With astounding calmness, the excutioner levelled his small submachine gun, known to the underworld as a "thommy-gat," at the glass of the closed door and poured a deadly hail of fire into the booth.

The glass shattered. In a moment Coll, with perhaps ten bullets in his body, crushed through the door, and slumped down on the floor, dead.

Unperturbed, the assassin turned and walked out with his two companions. They sped off in an automobile.

Policeman James Sherlock, reached the scene as the gunman drove off.
He pursued the car for more than a mile in a commandeered taxicab, but finally it eluded him.

WIFE APPEARS
Coll's wife, whom he married a month ago after his acquittal as a participant in the "Harlem" baby massacre in which 5-year-old Michael Vengali was killed, walked out. Continued on Page Three.

FEAR TRAINER HAS TROPICAL DISEASE

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 8 — Clyde Beatty, animal trainer, who has been battling with a strange disease in a Peru, Ind. hospital following an infection caused by a lion's bite, may be suffering from a rare tropical infection.

Thurman B. Rice, associate professor of bacteriology at the Indiana University school of medicine here, said today that the organism which has caused the baffling illness of the lion tamer may be one of the pouterella germ, a group closely related to tularemia (rabbit fever) and bubonic plague.

"It is unusual in this country," Dr. Rice said, "and few doctors have seen it. Always rare, it is encountered more frequently in India where wounds from the attacks of wild animals are more common."

Reports from Peru were that Beatty continued in a precarious condition.

CHINESE SHELL JAPS IN SETTLEMENT TODAY

St. Luke's Hospital, American Institution. Filled With Injured Chinese Civilians Narrowly Escapes
Damage As 30 Shells Explode; Artillery Fire Continues Today.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 9, 1 A. M. — Chinese artillery hurled thirty shells into the Japanese defense area of the international settlement early today. One exploded near St. Luke's hospital, an American institution, at present crowded with wounded Chinese civilians.

The Chinese were believed planning an intensive bombardment of Japanese warships anchored in the Whangpoo despite the fact this necessitated firing over the international settlement with the ever present danger of shells falling into foreign areas of the settlement.

PROTEST ACTIONS
On numerous occasions Chinese officials protested to the council over the use of the settlement by the Japanese as a base of operation but Wu-Chen's letter last night was the first that contained any threats to the safety and well being of foreign residents if the Japanese failed to comply.

Japanese artillery men replied to the Chinese fire battering the Chinese defense areas in Chapel with heavy guns. The Japanese concentrated their fire on the Chung Shan road the main line of Chinese communication from Lun-ghue to Chapel.

Three Chinese shells fell in the central district destroying five houses on Fokeign road.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 8 — 11 p. m. —
Japanese land forces in the vicinity of the Wousung forts were driven back today by the Chinese defenders, losing all the ground they had gained in yesterday's severe fighting.

WARSHIPS ACTIVE Japanese warships stationed in the harbor launched a new bombardment shortly after 8 p. m., striving to demoralize the Chinese by hurling heavy shells into their entrenchments. At a late hour the battle was proceeding unabated, with the Japanese failing to score
new advances.

Fighting in the Chapel district continued throughout the day, the Japanese failing here also to dislodge the Chinese from their positions.

League Squads To Play Twice

The next weekend will be a trying one for Central Buckeye league squads when two games will be played by each team. The result of the gonfalon race will depend largely on the outcome of the contests.

Circleville will engage in a game here Friday evening with Bill Zwick's Grandview squad as the opposition and on Friday the Tigers will invade Marysville.

Other games are Friday, Westerville at Bexley and Marysville at Delaware; Saturday, Bexley at Grandview and Delaware at Westerville.

The Tigers lost to Grandview in the first encounter of the teams this year on the latter court. The score was 29-26 and the contributing factor in the defeat was the fact that Bill Hegele was chased to the showers early in the third period.

Marysville lost to the local team here 31-23 when the locals showed plenty of fourth period power.

LOCAL OFFENSE STRONG
Figures of the league standing disclose that while Circleville had the strongest offense of any team in the league it also has next to the loosest defense. The Tigers have scored 150 points in six games, an average of 25 points per tilt, but has been scored upon 134 times in the same number of games for a 22 points per game average.

Grandview is second to the Tigers in way of offense scoring 136 points an average of almost 23 points per game while being scored upon but 121 times for an average of 20 points.

Westerville has shown the poorest offense gaining 111 points, an average of 18 points for each four periods while Bexley has the poorest defense being scored on 24 times in each game. It seems 120 points while winning only one game out of six while Westerville has won three games out of six scoring only 111 points.

Games this weekend may shake up the league standing considerably with every team, excepting Bexley, conceded a chance to gain honors. The Tigers must face dread opposition in Grandview and Marysville and should the locals drop both games it will be curtains. Should they win both, however, they would be considered favorites to cop the title.

SIMMONS TO WORK
Simmons, of Greenfield, the best high school official seen here in many moons, will work the Friday evening game while the official for the game at Marysville has not been announced.

PRINCETON SCHED. FOR 1932 TOUGH

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 8.—Five of the seven contests carded on Princeton's 1932 football schedule, made public today, are major games. The schedule is the same as last year's except that Columbia resuming gridiron relations with the Tigers after a lapse of 27 years, replaces Brown. The schedule:

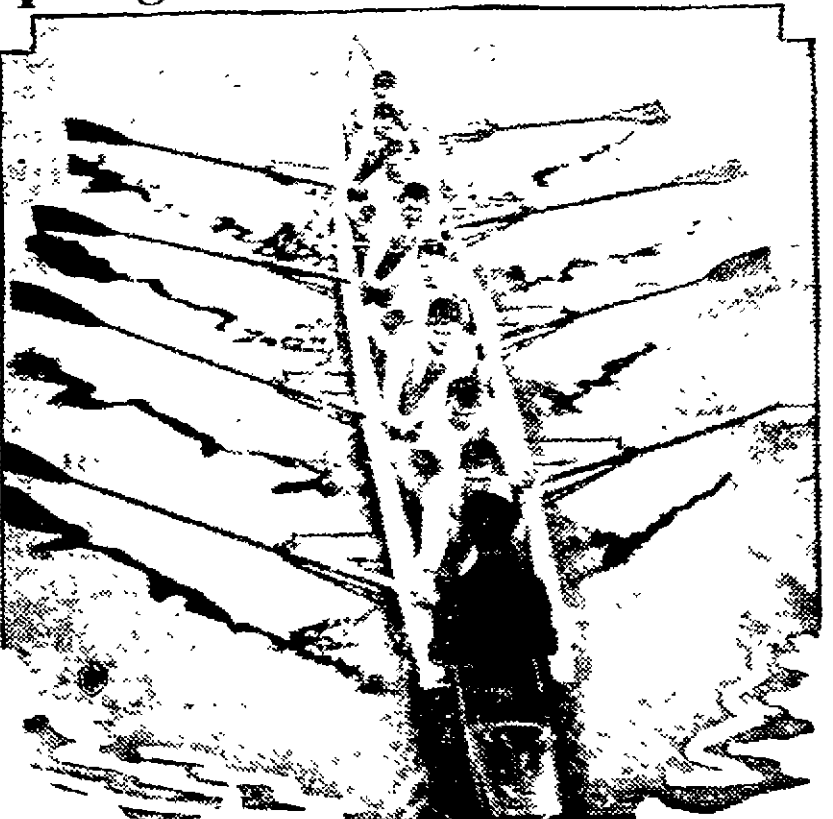

Oct. 1, Amherst at Princeton; Oct. 8, Columbia at New York; Oct. 15, Cornell at Princeton; Oct. 22, Navy at Princeton; Oct. 25, Michigan at Ann Arbor; Nov. 5, Lehigh at Princeton; Nov. 12, Yale at Princeton.

GIANTS BUY FARM

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Feb. 8.—The New York Giants of the National league have bought the Winston-Salem, N. C. Club of the Piedmont baseball league. It was announced here today by Fred J. Vooz, who negotiated the deal for the Giants, is president of the local eastern league club, another New York "farm."

Meetings at the United Brethren church, E. Main-st. are being continued this week beginning each evening at 7:30. Rev. W. F. Ruthford is in charge.

Spring Can't Be Far Behind

Yes, sir, this is a welcome sight. Already the still small whisper of Spring is in the air, despite the non-arrival of Winter. Here is the Naval Academy varsity crew pictured on the Severn River at Annapolis, Md., on the first outdoor workout of the season. The midshipmen are starting their training bright and early in the hope of repeating their 1931 victory in the Poughkeepsie Regatta, the goal of every crew in the country.

Grimes A Cub Now

Everything was rosy in Chicago Cubs' headquarters as Burleigh Grimes, former Cardinal pitching star and 1931 world series hero, obtained in trade for Hack Wilson, signed a 1932 contract to cast spitballs for the Bruins. Here he is on the right, affixing his autograph as President William L. Veck looks on.

mitted. She testified she believed in capital punishment and did not know the outcome of the Brown trial.

James List, farmer of Jackson-twp, was excused when he testified he did not believe he could lay aside impressions he had about the case. He said he was not opposed to capital punishment. Mr. List stated he had read report of the Brown trial. During his questioning he said there was sickness at his home and that he would be unable to be away at night.

Mrs. W. I. Spangler of Saltcreek twp, when asked if she believed in capital punishment answered emphatically "I certainly do." She added she had read newspaper accounts of the crime. She was excused by the judge.

FORM OPINION

Budd Harden, Circleville auto dealer, said two of the trial attorneys, Emmitt L. Crist, prosecuting attorney, and Tom Renick of defense counsel, had represented him in legal matters. He said he had read all of the accounts published in the local newspaper "including the testimony from the Brown trial and it would take evidence to alter his opinion on this trial.

Mr. Weidinger was questioned at length concerning the assault and robbery of his father, the late John Weidinger, many years ago. He said his father was struck on the head and robbed. This affair, he said, would not prejudice him in his consideration of this case. He was seated.

E. O. Shupe was briefly questioned and seated as the fourth juror. He said he believed in capital punishment, had no opinion, and would not be prejudiced by the outcome of the Brown trial. William Sark, Walnut-twp, was excused for cause when he told of an expression he made about the case. Ralph Stevenson was briefly questioned and seated. A. L. Wilker, Circleville, was excused when he said he had an opinion that would require evidence to alter. During the questioning of Otis Leist, Attorney C. A. Leist of counsel for the state, traced back the Leist family lineage to determine if there was any relationship. The attorney said he believed his father and Otis Leist's father were first cousins. The prospective juror said the matter of distant relationship would not prejudice him in his consideration of the case. He was seated.

three-sport star, has returned to make his presence felt against the Bishops. It will be recalled that after he became a member of the football team last year his team forged ahead to a championship winning ten straight games. How much of a stimulus he will prove to be this year remains to be seen but Coach Grover feels that his weight, height, and imperturbability under fire will help a lot.

If Wolfe starts against the Bishops Wednesday it will probably be at a guard position rather than his old center station. Harold Brown will continue at the jumping post with Saunders and Lackey as other guard possibilities. Trace and Kepler are considered to be likely starters as forwards.

Earlier in the season the Bobcats were beaten on the Wesleyan court by a Bishop rally late in the game.

BOY GANGSTER

ed into the drug store a few minutes after the shooting.

She became hysterical when informed of Coll's death. Police held her for questioning, but she was so discomposed she could not talk. Only a week ago Coll was said by police to have escaped assassination. Gummien raided a Bronx apartment at which Coll adherents were making merry. Two men and a woman were killed and three persons injured.

In a way, his end was similar to that of Jack "Legs" Diamond, killed recently. Like Diamond, Coll was shot down while still flushed with a victory over the law.

"I feel sorry for any one who is bumped off," he said at the time of Diamond's murder. "Especially when a guy is lucky enough to beat a trial — and so soon after acquittal."

Coll delighted in the reputation he held as a "tough hombre" and a killer. It was only following the Harlem slaying of the Vengali boy, which occurred during a gang fight, that Coll's name became a potent one in the underworld.

That shooting disclosed the warfare between Coll's gang and that of his former ally, Flegenheimer reputed bear baron of the Bronx. A score of gangsters were "rubbed out" in the duel for supremacy in disputed territory between the two gangs.

NUERNBERG—On his deathbed George Bischoff, 75, an esteemed manufacturer, confessed to a police captain he had called to his room that he had murdered his brother-in-law Peter Geisinger, 21 years ago. The murder caused a sensation. Police found the body in a swamp. At no time was Bischoff even suspected, and the crime went down in the books as unsolved.

"If you would have caught someone and sent him up for by crime, I should have confessed," the dying man told the police. "But since no innocent life was in danger I thought I'd continue to live a useful life."

OHIO U. TO CAUSE CONFERENCE TEST

ATHENS—Spurred on by recent victories over the Wittenberg and Cincinnati court squads and strengthened by the addition of one of last year's big cogs, the Ohio University Bobcats will tackle the Ohio Wesleyan Bishops here Wednesday in an effort to still further improve their Buckeye Conference record which now stands even all with three wins and three losses.

Last Friday night the Bobcats turned back a strong Cincinnati team 42-23 meanwhile demonstrating a bit of the dash and shooting ability that carried them to a Buckeye championship last year.

ATTORNEY GENERAL HIT RADIO TRUST

Recommendation to Crush State University's Radio Meets Opposition.

The right of Ralph L. Walker, examiner for the federal radio commission, to rob the people of Ohio of educational broadcasting facilities they have paid for and are supporting, will be challenged by Gilbert Bettman, attorney-general, when he discusses in a series of radio talks the examiner's recommendation that the Ohio State University's radio station, WEOA, be deprived of all evening hours and that such time be given to a commercial broadcasting station to use as it may see fit in furthering the interest of the radio trust and propaganda into the farm homes of the state.

Deciding to carry the entire question directly to the people of the state, Bettman will broadcast from WEOA every Wednesday at 9:30 p. m., some of the highlights of his battle with the examiner for the federal radio commission and will point out what his recommendation means to the future of education in the state and the broadcasting of unbiased, educational material from the state university.

One of examiner Walker's reasons for recommending that the state-supported broadcasting station be wiped from the air was exploded here today by a survey conducted by R. C. Higgy, director of WEOA. A short time ago the examiner declared that the people of Ohio can listen to educational talks during the day and can reserve the evening hours for listening to commercial propaganda. This reason for depriving the state-owned station of all evening hours was smashed by Higgy's survey of 4400 WEOA listeners which showed that 85.5 per cent of the total listeners in the state find the evening hours the best time to receive broadcasts from the educational station.

Chicago hotels are reserving their back rooms for the naming of the nominees who will be announced on the convention floor.

Injection Victim

This is 11-year-old Mary Low, who, with her mother and father, was found dead in their secluded house on the outskirts of High Bridge, N. J. Her brother, Frederick, 15, the only survivor of the family, told a Macabre tale of how Dr. Frederick C. Low, his father, dependent over financial reverses, administered an injection to each member of the family, saying it was an anti-typhoid serum. He then injected the fluid into his own veins. Only a miracle saved the boy from the fate that befell his parents and sister.

Chinese Air Commander Adventurer of Kentucky

General Chang Hui-Chang Is Oriental Nomme de Guerre of Bert Hall, American Air-Soldier of Fortune.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — If the name of General Chang should leap at you out of the newspaper headlines of these days, don't make the mistake of visualizing him as being one of those sup-hoistered, Mandarin-like figures we have come to recognize as the typical Chinese war lord.

General Chang Hui-Chang, commander-in-chief of the Chinese air forces, is, in fact, a Kentuckian by birth, with good red American blood in his veins, and his home is in Higginsville, Mo. In the United States, and in almost every country in the world, he is known as Bert Hall, soldier of fortune and airman extraordinary.

During the World War, Hall served with distinction as a member of the original Lafayette Escadrille. He crossed swords, or rather tracer bullets, with the finest air fighters of the Germans Imperial Air Corps and always managed to come out in one piece. Hall bagged twenty enemy machines and was officially credited with nine.

Before the World War, Hall was the entire Turkish air force at $100 a day. He fought for Abdul Halim against the Bulgarians until the Turks began to cut his pay. Bert then changed sides and strafed his former bosses. On his new allies taking liberties with his pay he decided to quit the Bulgarians, but they guessed his intentions and threw him into prison, sentencing him to be shot next morning. But he bribed his jailers and flew fast and far away.

Bert had many stirring adventures after the European conflict. One in particular nearly cost him his life. On a mission to Russia for the French Government, Hall was caught in the outbreak of the Red Revolution.

For a time it looked like curtains for the soldier of fortune, but his lucky star was in the ascendency and not only did he escape from

STUDIES PRESENT FARM DEPRESSION

COMFORT ASSURED IN NEW PONTIAC

Finds Outlooks for Better Business Conditions Not Optimistic.

Analyzing the present agricultural situation, C. R. Arnold, rural economist for the Ohio State University, finds that the gross cash income of farmers in the United States has declined about 2 1/2 billion dollars during each of the last two years.

This means, he says, about $800 less cash received by each farmer in this country in 1931 than in 1929. Some of the drop in income was due to poor crops in 1930, but most of it came as a result of lower prices for farm products.

When the general price level is changing very rapidly as at present, Arnold points out, there is a great spread in prices between raw products and finished products. When prices were rising during the war, farm products were among the first to rise and farming was profitable. Fertilizer prices, farm machinery, and taxes advanced more slowly. During the last two years farm prices were the first to fall and as a result farmers have suffered.

There is nothing to cause any rapid advance of prices during 1932, he asserts. Of course, political conditions in foreign countries cause much uncertainty at present. However, some recovery in prices is to be expected when business starts to improve. But most people feel that the general trend of prices over the next few years will be downward. Business conditions have been declining for 2 1/2 years and many people think we are now near the bottom of the depression with some improvement ahead.

The recovery in business from a depression is usually longer than the decline so two or three years probably will pass before normal business conditions return.

WASHINGTON—The visit of the King of Siam to the United States in 1931 had marked economic significance, according to information in the hands of U. S. Commercial Attache Charles E. Brookhart. Interest in American products and in the creation of a Department of Intelligence has been greatly stimulated. The latter development entails a long term program for the fostering of agriculture in Siam.

STATE TO RESUME SHORT AG COURSES

With the departments in the college of agriculture sponsoring them, they are: dairy technology, market milk, February 8-12; but-ter manufacture, February 13-17; ice cream manufacture, February 18-22.

Horticulture and forestry can-ners' short course, February 18-19.

Rural economics - farm land appraisers, February 10 - 12; farm management, February 22-26.

It is rumored the rejection of the new humorous magazines reads something like this: "The fact that your contribution is returned does not necessarily imply any merit."

U. S. AUTOMOBILE BUYING INCREASES

DETROIT, Mich. — Concrete substantiation of the oft voiced belief that American motorists will replace their worn automobiles this year and thus start the march out of the depression is seen in a statement made here today by Frank L. Wiethof, sales manager of the Rockne Motors Corporation.

"The buying that was started at the New York show cheered everybody in the industry," said Mr. Wiethof. "But we all wanted to know if the New York indications would hold good for the rest of the country. We have now had definite confirmation — the high interest at New York was a true reflection of the nation."

"In every city where automobile shows have been held, the attendance has been remarkable and the actual sale of cars has been most satisfactory. Crowds at New York exceeded those of 1931 show by 17 per cent. Comparative increases over last year have been shown everywhere."

"There were 52 Rockne Six automobiles sold during the New York show and out of the thousands of people who crowded our exhibit, our salesmen gleaned 1,000 live prospects. We were highly pleased, but even better news was the statement from San Francisco, informing us that 25 cars had been sold during the show there."

Any member of the family of Stanley Glick R. F. D. 4, Circleville, is invited to be a guest of The Herald to the Grand Theatre. Call at this office for ticket.

The Debt Grows

BEFORE congress can balance the national budget further increase in the public debt is inevitable even though the economy strikes are applied vigorously. The only unknown quantity is the ultimate extent of that increase. In 1919 the public debt was 25 1-2 billions. It was down to 16 billions two years ago but is now back to 18 billions.

It is not so much a matter of how much the debt will increase but how much of a burden the nation can carry without hardship to the individual taxpayer and to business. Due to income shrinkage because of the depression it is possible that the country was better able to carry a debt of 25 1-2 billions in 1919 than it is able to carry a debt of 18 billions today.

It would be dangerous for the administration and congress to act on the assumption that it has a margin of 7 1-2 billions to work with.

The fundamentals on which tax-paying ability rests - the natural resources of the country, the energy and productive capacity of its people - have not been undermined by the slowing down of its industry, but with 7,000,000 persons out of work and all form of incomes slashed the country is less able to pay taxes than it was three years ago.

Congress and the administration must not only balance the federal budget, if the national debt is not to become too heavy, but they must determine with some degree of accuracy the maximum tax and debt burdens the nation can carry not only during the next fiscal year but for several years thereafter.

Buffalo Hunters Cleared

LEAVING the mystery of the murder of Cock Robin unsolved for the moment, the scientific community has been on the trail of that other arch murderer, the slayer of the vast herds of buffalo which once roamed the American plains, and has found the guilty party, or at least claims he has.

"No, it was not 'Buffalo Bill' Cody or any of his buffalo-hunting contemporaries of the old West, although they did bring down a goodly number of these lordly beasts of the prairies. The real villain was none other than Hemorrhagic septicemia.

Dr. E. A. Bruce, dominion pathologist in British Columbia, has completed a study which has convinced him that this germ, which flourishes in unclean barn yards, hog wallows, neglected hen houses, sheep corrals and rabbit hutches, decimated the buffalo herds far more than the slaughter by hunters.

Though man and his weapons have proved a dangerous enemy to all wild life as well as plant life nature has produced even more deadly enemies. Disease is constantly attacking wild animals and trees. The woodman may spare the tree only to see the virgin forest rot to the ground from old age or disease. And man can protect his game too well-protected deer, for example becoming diseased and stunted if the old stock is not killed off and new stock introduced.

Nations and races forget to their sorrow that man is subject to these same laws of nature.

A Penn Stamp

SO many have been the requests for special issues of postage stamps commemorating something or other that the postoffice department has felt compelled to discontinue the practice except where the event or person to be commemorated is of national significance. One of the first exceptions Postmaster General Brown will make probably will be in the production of Pennsylvania historical series for a stamp commemorating William Penn's landing 250 years ago.

The landing of Penn and the founding of a colony by his party on the bank of the Delaware made important American history. Penn's contribution to the colonization of America was of first importance, because in laying well the foundations of his colony at Penn's Woods he was laying firm foundations for the union that was to be. Had he failed the United States might never have been.

So the postoffice department can order a special Penn issue without establishing a precedent or breaking a good rule. All commemorative stamps should not be discontinued, only those which have no other justification than local pride in events of no historical or national significance. Let the department clamp the lid down only on those dubious species of national concern of their meaning and dignity.

Education's great. Some people fuss and sweat. Educated ones purr and use profanity.

SYNOPSIS

Lovely Fanchon Meredith is wanted by the San Francisco police in connection with a murder committed by her sweetheart, "Tony." Fanchon did not know he was a gunman. She escapes by airplane under the name of "Smith." Aboard is Evelyn Howard, whom Fanchon had met on a voyage from Hawaii. Evelyn is going to New York to live with her aunt, the wealthy Mrs. Carstairs, whom she never saw. The plane crashes and Fanchon is the only survivor. To get away from Tony and the past, she goes to the Carstairs home as "Evelyn." A strong bond of affection grows between Mrs. Carstairs and her "niece." Collin Carstairs is at first antagonistic because of his cousin's Hawaiian escapades and her self-righteous attitude when his mother offered aid, but Fanchon's sincerity overcomes his objections. They fall in love. After a happy summer at Southampton, Fanchon makes her debut in New York. Collin, though realizing their relationship is a barrier, cannot resist professing his love. Fanchon cannot acknowledge hers without revealing her identity. A few days later, a threatening note comes from Tony. She visits him and repulses his advances. Tony informs Fanchon that Evelyn is alive but has lost her memory. He threatens to expose Fanchon unless she introduces him to Mrs. Carstairs as "Cesare Gull."

CHAPTER XXI

Jennie Carstairs and Collin watched her that night with some anxiety. She looked tired. She had used rouge, an unusual camouflage for her. Her gaiety was forced, over a bridge table later, and her laughter. What, they wondered, had happened to her? Jennie, however, had her own heartick solution, for it would not be long now before Collin would be sailing, for England, on the first stage of his journey to the Far East. Jennie thought, unhappily, she does care for him, I was, after all, misled.

Two days later, when Jennie Carstairs came home from an afternoon spent in arguing with the other members of a certain charity committee and came home tired, thinking of a quiet talk with her son and her mother, she found the door unlocked. She was met at the door by Jameson with the information that Miss Evelyn had a caller and that Mr. Collin had not yet returned to the apartment.

On her way to her bedroom, Jennie glanced into the drawing room, where that perhaps she might find an entertaining one of the girls she knew, or one of the ubiquitous young men. To her astonishment, she saw her deep in a low voiced conversation with a man who was perfectly strange to Jennie. A dark young man, very thin in appearance, very graceful, very well dressed, who stood over by the window and held a cigarette loosely in his fingers. Jennie moved away, but Fanchon looked up and saw her.

"Aunt Jennie," she said, and Mrs. Carstairs noticed her painful flush. "I am a stranger moved away from the window."

Jennie Carstairs came into the room. She had a magnificent silver fox fur over one arm. She had pearls at her throat and in her ears. All this the young man noticed. The Carstairs jewels were rather famous. Some of them Jennie rarely wore as they adorned a safe deposit vault instead.

Fanchon rose. "Aunt Jennie, may I present my old friend, Mr. Cesare Gull?" she said, quietly, but her heart was leaping within her.

Collin Carstairs postponed his sailing. It was perfectly evident to him that quietly, almost unobtrusively and, as it were, naturally, Cesare Gull had become an intimate of the Carstairs household. He was a rather silent young man who spoke of his past Florentine existence rarely, and then with a deep melancholy which his hearers, not in the least understanding, still respected. He had excellent manners, good looks, and a great deal of charm. Mrs. Carstairs found herself liking him—with reservations. The reservations had to do with her niece. She found that, for some curious reason, the girl was not herself when Gull was around. Had it not been for this strange effect upon his "old friend," Jennie Carstairs would have liked him far better. But as it was, her long experience of Europe and Europeans created a little intangible doubt of this almost too correct, and sometimes quite evasive young man, in her mind. It was nothing she could lay her finger on and something she kept to herself, even when, Collin, losing no time in expressing his disapproval, informed his mother, in no uncertain terms, that there was something decidedly "fishy" about their new acquaintance. He, too, had noted Gull's effect upon the girl he loved. He said to Jennie, "She's afraid of him."

"But," said Mrs. Carstairs, "that is nonsense! It is your imagination." "No, it is not," she said, always on her guard when she talks with him, when any of us are there. Several times, when they have been alone together, I have come into the room suddenly. I have found them arguing. Oh, not loudly, but still none too silent. I have seen her eyes flash. I must see you, alone," it began without preamble. "Please arrange a time. I spoke the other day of wishing to visit the Metropolitan Museum. Unless I hear from you I will call for you tomorrow at three."

He had moved to a small, good hotel in New York and was living there for the time being. To Fanchon's inquiries, "Evelyn?" he answered carelessly that she was still in Brooklyn and was cared for; he saw her often.

How to Help Victims of Burns and Scalds

Everyone Should Have Some Knowledge of Treatment in Emergency, Says Authority, Telling How to Proceed While Awaiting Arrival of a Physician

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.
United States Senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

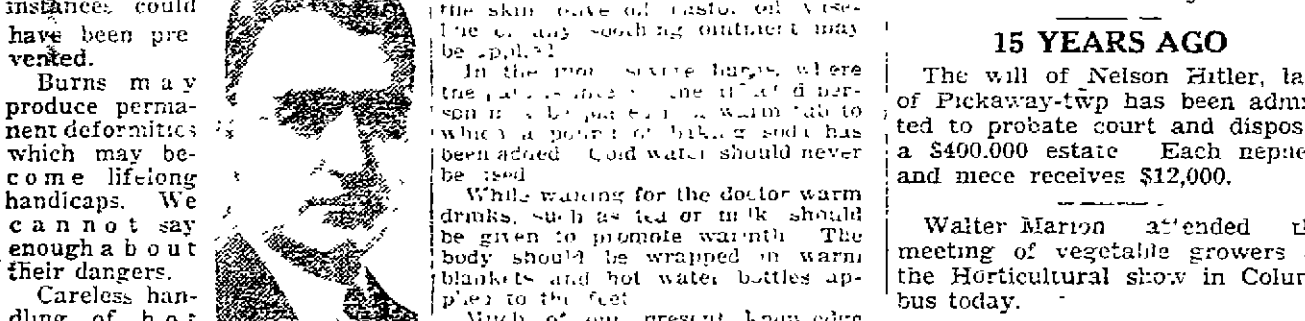

PREVENTION is better than cure, is a saying that can be applied to any ailment. It applies particularly to burns. Severe burns are often difficult to cure and in most instances, could have been prevented.

Burns may produce permanent deformities which may be a lifelong handicap. We cannot say enough about their dangers.

Careless handling of hot liquids, such as boiling water, hot soup, tea or coffee, is the most frequent cause of burns. The scalding is sometimes severe and serious. This accident is particularly dangerous when it involves children and elderly individuals.

Scalding causes marked reddening of the skin and underlying structures are damaged, scars form. In a mild burn there is simple reddening of the skin and blisters may form. Scars do not occur in this type of burn.

The hot liquid should be left to the physician. His care lessens the discomfort and pain, shortens the duration of the healing process and prevents possible complications. Yet everyone should be prepared to handle the treatment of burns.

Dr. Copeland said that the treatment of burns should be given to a physician as soon as possible. The body should be wrapped in warm blankets and hot water bottles applied to the feet.

Much of our present knowledge concerning the treatment of burns comes from the experiences in the World War. During that conflict, burns were treated with great success. Some times it is sprayed on the painful spots.

As soon as I have said and desire to treat, require the utmost care and expert attention, as soon as possible. After the acute symptoms disappear, further attention may be required. A skin graft has been formed. Skin grafting and plastic surgery are often necessary to prevent serious disabilities.

The great, permanent disabilities resulting from burns should serve as a warning against carelessness which might result in permanent damage. It is a good idea to have a first aid kit in the home, and to have the accidents that can be prevented.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Following is another letter to the editor commending the Woodrow Wilson film coming here Feb 18 and 19.

Dear Mr. Clark:

I wish to congratulate you on your public spirit manifested in making it possible for the people of your community to see the Woodrow Wilson picture. This picture is of great value, not only from a historical but from a political standpoint. It depicts the life of our beloved President during the period of his political popularity and also during the end of his life, when he had become a prisoner of his own people. It is a picture that we should all see.

Yours very respectfully,
C. N. McCalland
Probate Judge, Chillicothe

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

by Edson R. Waite, Shawnee, Okla.

Did you ever stop to think of the gratitude we owe to all those men and women of bygone days who made possible by their toil and sacrifice the benefits and opportunities we enjoy today? In whatever field of endeavor we labor, we are under a debt of obligation to them.

In the realm of commerce we are debtors to intrepid and heroic lives. The history of navigation, exploration and aviation is the story of heroic achievement.

A lot of serving was done before we came upon the scene. Our benefits are the heritage of sacrifice beyond our ability to compute or explain.

Our fathers paid heavily for the privileges we enjoy and they launched enterprises which they have entrusted to our carrying forward. They pushed to the limit of their opportunities. BUT WE MUST PUSH BACK THE HORIZONS OF THEIR ACHIEVEMENTS.

How One Woman Lost 10 Lbs. in a Week

Mrs. Betty Luedcke of Dayton writes "I am using Kruschen to reduce weight—I lost 10 pounds in one week and cannot say too much to recommend it."

To take off fat easily, SAFELY and HARMLESSLY—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it is the safe way to lose unsightly fat and one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the safest way to lose fat—money back.

But be sure and get Kruschen Salts—imitations are numerous and you must safeguard your health.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINATION

reached a point where it seemed Gov. Roosevelt might get the nomination by default unless something was done to check the eagerness of state leaders to climb aboard the Roosevelt bandwagon.

It is the measured opinion of party leaders in Washington that the Roosevelt bandwagon is checked by the nomination of a wide open affair.

NOT SERIOUS

Few believed that "Al" is a serious candidate for renomination. Should the nomination come to him without his seeking it, or without a serious fight in the convention, there is small doubt that he would welcome the opportunity to oppose the man who defeated him three years ago. But to fight for the renomination at the risk of splitting the party and reviving the bitterness of 1928 - Smith wants none of it, according to those in his confidence.

He has consented to the use of his name to provide a rallying post for those elements of the party — and they are not inconsiderable — that are opposed to seeing Franklin D. Roosevelt get the nomination by default.

The expectation now prevails that Smith's name will be entered in selected states where sentiment for him is known to be strong. In the 1928 election he carried two New England states - Massachusetts and Rhode Island - and Democratic leaders in both states have asserted that the 1932 delegates are his for the asking. He is similarly strong in such states as New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New Hampshire, Connecticut, and in a few mid-western spots like Illinois and Wisconsin.

In any event, the Smith statement has given enormous impetus to the candidacy of both Garner and Ritchie.

GARNER STRONG

Garner will go to the convention assured of the support of his own Texas delegation and probably of several other southwestern states. He is the Democratic "boss" of the house, with a kindly "boss," and it is certain he will have the menial regard of a large number of Democratic congressmen who will not be without influence in their own delegations.

Ritchie goes to the convention with the solid support of his Maryland delegation, to which must be added Delaware, and a section of Illinois and Pennsylvania. A southerner by birth and training, his sympathies are more with the wets of New York or Illinois than with the dry south.

On all sides the question was being asked today: "What of New York?"

It had been assumed that New York was solidly for Roosevelt, but in view of Smith's announcement of his candidacy a question mark has crept in concerning the Empire state delegation. New York's delegation is the largest in the convention. There is reason to believe that Tammany is not enamored of either Roosevelt or Smith.

With Smith out of it, or silent, there was small doubt but that the New York delegation would be for Roosevelt, if for no other reason than it would have no other place to go. But with Smith a desired receptive candidate, another face is put on the matter.

Colorado Hunter Kills Deer With Odd Antlers

Canon City, Colo.—Many a hunter had claims to having bagged the largest deer during the hunting season just closed, but Coleman Cooper of Colorado believes he found the freak deer of the season.

Cooper brought down a 210-pound specimen that had antlers, where antlers should be, covered with velvet, another pair of antlers beginning to grow just above the eyes, and other points along the side of the head, indicating rudimentary antlers.

Italian Gets Pension for Walking 53 Years

Ferrara, Italy.—"Hike for life if you want to be happy," is seventy-one-year-old Luigi Marani's advice to the young.

He has set a record of covering 14½ times the globe's circumference. He took 53 years to do it, but it is done at last, and so he is retiring on an Italian state pension.

Man Falls Into Lacquer; Took 3 to Undress Him

Oshkosh, Wis.—It took three men to remove A. P. Nonweiler's clothing after he fell into a 250-gallon vat of lacquer at his factory here. He was able to climb out, but the lacquer dried so quickly he was completely encrusted before setting foot on the ground.

BREAKS "HOODOO" WITH SHIP RADIO

Wireless Plea Brings Aid to Ailing Seamen.

New Orleans.—The story of how a wise old sea captain used the ship's radio to break the "spell of a hoodoo" after four deaths had marked a voyage from South America, was told by the crew of the steamship West Segovia, which docked here recently.

The captain, Charles E. Edgely, was nothing short of a hero, the seamen declared.

The trouble started, it seemed, when the ship took on a load of cattle bones at Buenos Aires, late in September. A longshoreman was knocked into the forward hold and killed.

A short time after the night watchman fell dead on the forward deck. Doctors at Buenos Aires declared it was heart disease, but the crew was certain there was a jinx.

At Port of Spain, Trinidad, two West Indian negroes in a bumboat sneaked under the rear of the ship and tried to sell souvenirs to the crew. Just then the skipper, not knowing they were there, gave the signal to get under way. The negroes and their boat were chopped up by the propeller blades. The third mate put out in a boat to look for the negroes, but only bits of the boat were found.

The superstitious seamen were stricken with terror. Then Ramon Sanderson, twenty-six, an engine wiper, was taken ill. The seamen worried. There was no doctor on board, so the old captain undertook to "break the hoodoo."

He ordered the wireless operator to get busy and dig up a ship with a surgeon. The operator contacted the Monamore of the Munson line, bound for New York and too far away to help the sick man. Then the captain had the radio operator describe Sanderson's symptoms to the Monamore's surgeon. Following the doctor's instructions, Captain Edgely took Sanderson's temperature and watched the symptoms. The Monamore physician described the case as appendicitis, and Captain Edgely ordered the ship put back to Trinidad, where the youth was removed and placed in a hospital.

Brothers on Same Gun Crew of Ship

Binghamton, N. Y.—When the after-gun crew of the U. S. S. Concord sweeps into action, Gunners Clarence and Orval Singenwhite of Binghamton form an unusual pair.

They boast that they believe they are the only set of brothers assigned to the same ship in the entire navy.

Brother Clarence points the gun. Brother Orval loads it. Contrary to usual traditions, there really is brotherly love. Brother Clarence hates to give orders to Brother Orval, but then Brother Orval doesn't mind taking them.

The summer breeze blows through the trees and welcomes back the bevedeeze.

BEHIND the SCENE In HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL
HOLLYWOOD, Cal. — Every day Hollywood is becoming more practical. The latest reform is aimed against designing special gowns for pictures.

Mrs. Brock Pemberton, newly appointed head of the R-K-O wardrobe department, is the leader of the movement. Instead of having creations made up from sketches, she plans to buy original models from the New York and local shops.

Some of the most fashionable establishments in the country have agreed to submit gowns on approval and to hold them exclusive until the studio has had first call. New York shops will send their richest creations air-mail to Hollywood.

For four years a costumer for a New York department store, Mrs. Pemberton already has tried out this plan at the Eastern studios. She says:

"I shall have a designer, of course, but, in most cases, it is highly unsatisfactory to choose gowns from sketches. They look so different when they are made up. Under my plan, the star will have the finished garment and will require only one fitting. This will save a lot of inconvenience, and the gowns will be just as smart as if we had made them up ourselves."

The new system will be tried out on Ann Harding's picture, "Westward Passage" and later on Connie Bennett's "A Free Lady."

PETITE SCANDAL
Take it from Groucho Marx, during the wedding of a pair of models, the bride's father stood behind the groom with a cap pistol.

GOSSIP OF CELEBS.
One of Hollywood's swiftest speakers discourages gossypers by posting bad checks on a bulletin board. . . Anita Page's escort recently was Dr. Cyril E. Wright. Edgar Allan Woolf got a threatening letter and is the latest film person to sport a bodyguard. Twenty-four years ago, tomorrow, "Across the Divide," the first local movie, went into production in a Chinese laundry at Seventh and Oliver Sts. . . Harold Goodwin (remember him?) has rented an abandoned restaurant on Calhoun Pass and is growing mushrooms for the market. . . Renee Adoree will be sufficiently recovered to leave the sanitarium by March 13. She'll have to live in a high altitude. . . The El Mirador, at Palm Springs, drew heavy movie patronage over the week-end. Chico Marx amused the guests by lying on the floor and catching morsels of food tossed by Mervyn Leroy and Ginger Rogers. . . Charlie Farrell and Virginia Valli like the desert resort so well they have rented an apartment there.

Next Little Theatre Play Choice Is Up To Pupils and Townspeople

Here folks is a good chance to win two tickets for a play! Opportunity was given recently for the townspeople to select the first play of the Thespian's Little Theatre, and they chose "Who Wouldn't Be Crazy". The pupils were given the chance to choose the second and they chose "The Ghost Parade", to be produced Tuesday, February 23.

Both the townspeople and pupils are given a chance to choose the third play of the Thespian's Little Theatre. Communicate your choice to the director, J. W. Fetherlin, at the high school.

Two tickets to the play will be given to the person who first selects the play that is chosen by a plurality as the one they wish to see.

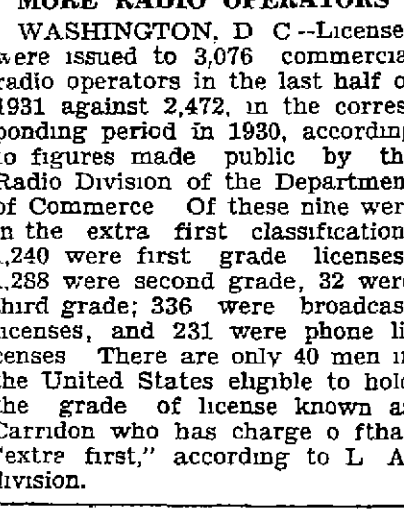

Give your selection to the director immediately. If you are first to choose the one selected by the majority, remember those two good tickets.

Select your play from the list of three acts as follows:
THREE ACT FARCES
"I'll Explain Everything," in which a bank cashier tries to get out of a hard situation by telling a fib
"Cupid Scores A Touchdown," includes a politician, gold-digger, football star, and an English lady who are all very amusing and entertaining.

"The Mummy Bride," in which the hero, Willard, decides he will marry a mummy princess when she comes to life and there is a great mix up before the happy ending.
